

FIFTH YEAR. MAYSVILLE, KY., MONDAY, JANUARY 20, 1896. ONE CENT.

THEY ARE ASKING.

He said, John; he said, John; wipe off your dobbie chin;

Put down your blooming vest, John, for fighting is a sin;

Keep on your ample shirt, John, and do not swag;

In kicking 'round the pricks, John, 'tis better to go to bed.

The feet you're put in motion may be for Cousin Bill;

If so, why, go ahead, John, and work your sweetest will;

Your guns they may be loaded—who knows?—for Russian boys;

With that we're taught to do, John; if scared, why, let him roar.

But, John, we know your cunning, and, at the instant,

Against this Yankee Nation you may propel your power;

Your friends who are coming toward Man-baited shore;

Your cannons bore as roaring as they have roared before.

If this be your intention, dear John, pray pause awhile;

And think how much more pretty your figure on the Nile;

Or Christening him, John, with Bibb and with run.

Or teaching Ah-Santa, John, the road to Kingdom Come.

Be calm, John; be cool, John, before the war cloud looms;

And keep your grasping claws off this con- tinental shore;

We whipped you on before, John; we'll whip you once again;

Though you have twice our ships, John, and three our fighting men.

There will be services at the Central Presbyterian Church this afternoon at 3 o'clock and tonight at 7 o'clock. Rev. John G. Anderson will do the preaching. These services are growing in interest, and it is earnestly hoped that all who can will attend these services and bear this eloquent and earnest man.

At a meeting of a large number of Kentucky horsemen at Lexington it was the consensus of opinion that the Graziana race bill introduced in the Kentucky Legislature will seriously damage the breeding interest of the state. It is probable that a committee of horsemen will go to Frankfort to fight the bill.

UNIQUE JUDICIAL METHODS.

Police Judge Wadsworth institutes a Whipping Notice.

It's capital idea!

Now let's see if other parents will follow suit.

There's a lot of "incorrigibles" in town, some of whom ought to be in the work-house, and would be if they lived in a large city.

Saturday the officers gathered in John Jones, John Sloan, Lewis Wilburn and Bona Layman, a quartette of "toughs" ranging from 14 to 16 years of age.

It is the second time the same gang has been before His Honor, having been on the former occasion dismissed with a good lecture.

They have for a long time been a terror to many citizens—ringing doorbells, rapping on windows, applying for money on the plea of being orphans and strangers and "tramps," and so-forth, et-cetera.

On this occasion they had made life miserable for one kind-hearted lady who had contributed "six bits" to their depleted "surplus."

The officers learned of their racially proceedings and arrest followed.

Saturday morning Judge Wadsworth took for the parents of the respective lads and when Mr. Jones, Mr. Sloan, Mr. Sloan, and Mrs. Wilburn, and Mrs. Layman lined up before the Court they were given the choice of two methods of procedure—each was to give his or her boy a good looking under direction of the officers, or the boys were to go to the rock quarry for thirty days.

The parents chose the former; and after stout paddles had been provided for young toughs were taken, erid into an adjoining room where, under the supervision of officers W. A. Stockdale and Frank Pursell, a learning of each hopeful.

This will probably last them for as much as two hours and a half; but under our admirable system for disposing of incorrigibles, what the devil must the officers do anyway?

Worried over being sued on a note for $200, George B. Dean, a Mercer county farmer, committed suicide by hanging himself with a hickie rein.

HERE'S ONE DISCOVERY.

Thousands of Dollars Lost to the State By Democracy.

A telegram from Frankfort says a sensational investigation is on in the Auditor's office over the affairs of the Muldraugh's Hill Turnpike in Marion county. The road was built by the father of Hon. J. Proctor Knott, who became bankrupt over it by taking the work too low.

The Auditor's books do not show any such road, and it is claimed that toll to the amount of thousands of dollars has been collected by private parties in the last thirty years, none of which has been turned into the Treasury.

It is said the investigation will be highly sensational and will cause trouble to more than one party.

Harper's Round Table.

Just after the War of 1776 an American frigate visited England.

Her crew of gallant tars had been principally recruited from the fisheries, and some of them, it is to be acknowledged, did not compare favorably in appearance with the spic and span, jaunty English naval seamen, for the former were of all shapes and sizes, from the tall, round shouldered, long armed Cape Codder down to the short, wiry members of the ship's company who hailed from various parts of the South, where less brains was to be found.

One day the Captain of the American ship paid a visit to the Commander of a British man-of-war at anchor in the same harbor. The conversation of the gig was a great, lanky seaman, whose backbone was so rounded as to form a veritable hump.

While the host rested at the gangway of the visited vessel the English sailors gathered in the open ports and "took stock" in a rather disdainful fashion of the occupants of the gig.

At last one of the seamen on board of the man-of-war called down to the coxswain.

"Ello, there, Yankee! I say, what's that bloomin' 'ump you 'ave hon your back?"

The American sailor looked up and called back, quick as a shot,

"That's Bunker Hill!"

An Invitation to the Great Infidel to Preach in the Church Militant, Whose Motto Is: 'Act In This World, Therefore In The Next.'

Thousands of prayers were said for Colonel R. G. Ingersoll a little while ago. Dr. John Rusk of the Militant Church, Chicago, wishes to know how efficacious the prayers have been. To bring the question to actual test the Clergyman has forwarded the following letter to the author of "The Mistake of Moses."

"Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll, Adrian, Mich.—Dear Sir: The Militant Church, which is organized for the purpose of bettering the condition of mankind, regardless of creed or lack of it, desires to extend to you an invitation to preach for us some Sunday morning in the near future on the subject of your views as to how the Christian Church should do and how. The motto of our Men's Club is, 'Act In This World, Therefore In The Next.' Some of our most earnest workers hold your views, others are devout Christians. All work together, however, to themselves and no criticism of creed is exchanged. We have a volunteer orchestra of twenty five pieces, a legal committee composed of over thirty of the leading lawyers of Chicago, who are each pledged to try one case a week free of charge for the poor, or take up the prosecution of law city officials or law-breakers. Our Committee of Physicists hunt up the poor and care for the sick, delegates visiting the police stations and curing drunkards by practical methods. The Health Committee of Ladies fights the saloons by trying to provide for the workman a better club house, not by incentives. Knowing your interest in honest, practical work for humanity, and feeling that the fact that I am a Christian and you are not should not prevent us from working together for the uplifting of humanity, and leaving it to 'be individual before to Judge for himself what is true, I earnestly invite you to give us the assistance of your ability for one Sunday in building up a movement great enough to embrace and love all humanity, from the highest to the lowest."

Every since Dr. Rusk mailed his invitation many think it is the first stage in the fulfillment of the thousands of prayers that he might be turned to the vocation of the Church. Speaking of the matter Dr. Rusk said:

"I do not see that the invitation is at all astonishing. It may not be remembered generally that Colonel Ingersoll at one time visited a modern institutional Church—one of the many practical working Churches which are doing grand work for humanity today. He was interested greatly in what he saw, expressed his entire sympathy with the work being done and his admiration of the possibilities of such Church activity. In fact, he said he should like to join that kind of a Church himself. So why is it at all strange to think that he may be glad to speak from the pulpit of Militant Church, whose creed is the good of humanity? I firmly believe that if there had been an institutional Church when Ingersoll was a boy, he would have entered into it with heart and soul and that he would have been America's most noted divine and not the greatest enemy of organized Christianity. As it is he has made people think. The Clergy, too, is thinking. The Churches have been cold and lifeless. In fact, they make more idols every year than Ingersoll has made in his lifetime. They have been negligent of man's temporal needs and well being, thinking only of his spiritual needs. Ingersoll objected to that. Now there is beginning to be competition among the Churches to see which can do most for men's bodies here in this world."

The young men of Poland are so jealous that they cause the arrest of all Ashland gallants who venture out there to "cast sheep's eyes" at the pretty girls who go to church.

WE'RE FOR AMERICA! AMERICANS!

The gold reserve is now down to $53,703,678; and it's still crossing the sea to pay English workmen for making goods for Americans to wear, while American workmen and their wives and children stand bread.

The shortage in Uncle Sam's Treasury so far for January is $7,542,808.00, an average daily deficit of $243,770. The deficit for the fiscal year is $22,057,402.10, and for the Cleveland Administration is $134,830,879.74.

The position of the Democrats in the Kentucky Senate is that if the Legislature will not elect a Democrat to fill the seat of Senator John C. Breckinridge, it should not elect anybody; and to a man up a tree it looks very much like nobody will be elected.

The Ashland News has changed from a morning to an afternoon paper, and the Sun has changed its name to The Ashland Republican. Both papers are daily, both Republican in politics, and both deserve a generous support.

There is more trouble over the movements of ex-President Harrison in the matrimonial line than in the Presidential. But BEN will capture both prizes—one a charming woman and the other a barren ideal of a nomination. Railing on his individual merits he will capture happiness and on a high tariff platform he will lose the Presidency—Corington Commonwealth.

Glouven zee daas en raygenen wind?

The Treasury is said to be in good condition, because the available cash balance, exclusive of the gold reserve, is $120,000,000, of which $70,000,000 is in greenbacks. How did this money get into the available cash balance, when there has been a deficiency in the revenues for three years? Plain enough. Every greenback redeemed out of the gold reserve goes at once into the available cash balance, and the more gold is drawn from the reserve the more Mr. CARLISLE's available cash balance is swollen, and that is the reason he and Mr. CLEVELAND say that we do not need any more revenue. As long as we sell bonds to keep up the reserve, and then take all the notes redeemed out of the reserve for spending money, we do not need more revenue; but that is not a good way of getting money in time of peace. If we had sufficient revenue we would not have to borrow to keep up the gold reserve.

RECENTLY The Pittsburgh Times, owned and edited by the Hon. CHRIS. L. MAGER, published a sketch of the life and work of BENJAMIN HARRISON, which attracted much attention and set people to thinking about him for another term. In commenting editorially upon the sketch and the man, Mr. MAGER said: "He is recognized as one of the ablest men that ever sat in the Presidential chair. The top-heavy condition of public affairs and the ruinous state of business under the present Administration contrasted sharply with the prosperity that characterized the four years of HARRISON, and help materially to make conspicuous the wise and careful course that the predecessor of Mr. CLEVELAND pursued. A comparison of the four years of HARRISON and the two years of CLEVELAND is about all that need be said at any time on behalf of General HARRISON. If the Republican Convention shall pick BENJAMIN HARRISON as the nominee, the country, as well as the party, will accept the result with satisfaction, for the period during which he directed the destinies of the Nation was one of the brightest in its history."

THE Senate Foreign Relations Committee has voted to report a legislative affirmation of the Monroe Doctrine prepared by Senator DAVIS of Minnesota.

The text of the resolution has not been made public.

The maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine, as set forth in the resolution, is held to be vital to the welfare of this country and the American continent.

The Doctrine, it is asserted is now in force, and has been in force ever since it was established by President MONROE.

The resolution declares that in case boundary disputes on the American continent between foreign Governments and American Governments are decided by arbitration, agreement or purchase, or in any manner whatever, the United States shall be the sole judge as to whether the Monroe Doctrine has been violated in such arbitration or agreement.

The resolution is drawn with a view to covering every possible contingency that may arise.

A FORECAST

Of the Business in Congress the Coming Week.

The Urgency Deficiency Appropriation Bill in the House.

The Bill Making Appropriations for the Military Academy will be taken up.

A sub-Treasury at Savannah—The Monroe Doctrine in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—In the house of representatives the programme of business for the coming week is about as follows:

The urgency deficiency bill will be reported by the committee on appropriations Monday, and it is expected that immediate consideration will be given it.

Following that, the bill making appropriations for the military academy for the next fiscal year will be taken up. But little time will be occupied in considering these, and opportunities for action on bills by unanimous request will be numerous.

It is expected that Friday the committee on invalid pensions will invoke the rule providing for the night session on that day to begin the consideration of private pension bills. During the week the committee on ways and means will give several hearings. On Monday advocates of a bill to establish a sub-treasury at Savannah will be heard, and on Wednesday will be held the final hearing on the customs administrative act.

The report from the senate committee on foreign relations of the Monroe doctrine resolutions Monday will probably cause the subject to divide the time with the senate free coinage substitute to the house bond bill, which is still the unfinished business. The extreme position taken by the committee resolutions in one direction, and those of Mr. Sewell, of New Jersey, in the other, will give the debate a wide range.

Mr. Davis has been instructed by the committee to urge prompt action on the resolution, and while it can not supersede the financial question as the unfinished business, it will probably receive much discussion this week.

Mr. Sewell may address the senate Monday during the morning hour on his resolution, which declares that the president has gone too far in his message in enunciating the Monroe doctrine.

The committee resolutions will probably be discussed by Messrs. Morgan, Sherman, Callom, Lodge, Frye, Davis and others in favor and antagonism.

Mr. Taylor and Mr. Chandler have given notice that they will speak this week on the financial question, and Mr. Wilson and Mr. Cockrell may also speak. Additional interest to the proceedings will be given should the finance committee report the tariff bill. This will be done, it is understood, without another meeting being held. The nature of the report will depend upon the position taken by Jones, of Nevada. Should he still insist upon increasing the duty on raw sugar an adverse report will be made; should he vote with the republicans then the bill will be reported as it came from the house. As soon as Mr. Jones signifies how he desires to vote the bill will be reported. This may be Monday.

NO REPLY
To Secretary Olney's Inquiry Regarding the Red Cross Society Entering America.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Secretary Olney stated Sunday night that he had received no reply as yet to his inquiries of inquiry to Minister Terrell at Constantinople, asking whether or not the Sultan had directed that the Red Cross officials should not enter his dominions for the purpose of distributing relief among the Armenians.

Meanwhile, Miss Clara Barton, president, is busily engaged in perfecting preparations for the voyage to Turkey, which she and her associates will undertake despite the report that they will not be permitted to discharge their charitable trust. She will leave Washington Tuesday and go to New York, failing from that port a day or two later.
